

Pikes Peak River Runners

Arkansas River Cleanups 2002 & 2012 & 2013

By Christina King
2002

The day began wonderfully. Sun, blue sky and relatively warm temps for an Arkansas river cleanup on May 11, 2002. The Arkansas River is in the midst of the lowest flows since 1977. The river was only running 350 cfs. We decided to run the easy section from Johnson's Village to Ruby Mountain so we could pick up trash and keep it in our boats. Several of us floated in our inflatable kayaks (duckies) representing the Pikes Peak River Runners, Private Boaters Coalition and High Country River Rafters clubs. We had showed up to float the river, pick up trash and make a difference on our home river. We picked up lots of trash. Beth (Buller) Roren got top honors for picking up the most cardboard.

Wendy Rombold had the eagle eye for spotting the most bits of trash and I got ambitious with the largest pieces of trash (crawling with leeches). Or at least that is what I found crawling between my toes when my feet came too close to the tarp infested with creepy crawlies. We had a lot of fun in the sun and enjoyed our float. I hope to see more boaters next year. We have compiled some of the best pictures and videos from ongoing years. We do this activity most years BUT have only photo/video documented it for three of those years. Enjoy.

2012

Movie Link

2013

Movie Link

